AUDITORIUM.

Bob Ott, funny fellow wit ha giggle in his walk, a howl in his voice, and a way of laughter and clean fun to him, is due here next week heading his company of 60 horse power entertain-The company opens a week of year, you will remember, when h nacked the theatre with the capacit sort of audiences that came once, toltheir neighbors about it, and came again, and then some! That is the sort of entertainment this happy chap seems to have a keen ability to dish up for folks—snappy, swift in action, clean in its nonsense, and interspersed with song numbers sung by real songsters that give lift, swing and "come again" harmony to the whole evening. Bob is sure to be given a great welcome. Shows like he presents sort of snatches of sunny-day humor that get under the collar and linkle shows of this sort seem to have mission sowadays when being han. mission nowadays, when being hap by is such an effort to many of us So let's get together and have some good laughs, hear some good songsand incidentally cast our optics over a bevy of chorus girls said to have many Georgia's fairest offering the peach

BREED THEATRE.

Constance Talmadge's latest Select Picture, The Lesson, which will be the feature attraction at the Breed theatre today and Saturday, is a highly entestaining photoplay-wholesome, de tertaining photoplay—wholesome, de-lightful and masterfully presented. The Lesson is a charming tale of the romance of a pair of typical young Americans—100 per cent real folks— whose life and love is just what we see about us all the time and every where, But even more than its story value. The Lesson is so meritorious because of its wonderfully true to life portrayal of small town life. It is a ordly and vividly and to which you will take your father and mother, your sister and brother, your wife and sweethmart. That is the highest postible recommendation—and The Lesson lesseves it! Carmel Myers will also be seen in The Girl in the Dark, a five part Binebird production and the Hearst-Pathe news will complete the bill for today and Saturday.

ORPHEUM THEATRE, DANIELSON. If one wants pleasantly and profit ably to walle away an eventual one should by all means see When Dreams Come True. Thore is so much diversified entertainment in the play that one will readily find something of in-When Dreams Come True. see When Dreams Come True. It is meledramatic. Should one's tastes be inclined to farce, see When Dreams Come True. It is farcical. Does one's fancy tend to musical comedy of the brightest order, then see When Dreams Come True, for it is musical comedy of the highest order, an anomaly among musical comedies inasmuch as it is musical and has real comedy throughout the entire action.

When Dreams Come True is one of most adroitly constructed plays that has ever been seen on the stage. Combining in the plot nearly every form of stage entertainment, it is so cleverly done and the sequence of events have such a logical bearing on the whole play that the story works out without one incongruous incident mar the smoothness of the peris well known as the composer who is well known as the composer of Marie Cahill's greatest successes, and if there are ideals in musical camedy, Mr. Hein is reaching after them in the music of When Dreams Come True. Several of the songs have become immensely popular, netably When Dreams Come True, Come Along to the Movies, Y-o-u, Dear, Y-o-u. The scenic equipment of When Dreams Come True is claborate to the Dreams Come True is elaborate to the last degree.
At the Orpheum theatre, Danielson, tonight, Sept. 27.

O MORRISSEY

There are three lessons I would write; Three words as with a burning pen,

Have faith. Where'er thy bark is driven, The calm's disport, the tempest's mirth

Have love. Not love alone for one,

Thus grave these lessons on thy soul-Hope, faith, and love-and thou shalt find Strength when life's surges rudest roll,

-From the German of Schiller.

THREE THINGS

In tracing of eternal light, Upon the hearts of men:

Have hope. Though clouds environ now, And gladness hides her face in scorn. Put thou the shadow from thy brow,
No night but hath its morn.

Knows this-God rules the hosts of heaven, The inhabitants of earth.

But men, as men, thy brothers call, And scatter, like the circling sun, Thy charities on all.

Light when thou else were blind.
